GOOD NEWS! LOTS OF WATER IN LAKE SUCCESS

LAKE SUCCESS is near its optimum level of 81,847 acre feet and elevation of 652.50 feet, as indicated by the Hammond studio photos above, and should reach that optimum sometime Saturday afternoon, according to Army Engineer reports. With water coming off the Tule watershed at 289 second feet, Bill Alexander, engineer for the Lower Tule River Irrigation district, said that the district will release enough water into the Tule river channel to equalize inflow and keep water from running over the dam's spillway. In previous years sand bags have been placed in the spillway to raise the lake elevation some four feet and increase storage capacity of the reservoir; this prevented overflow in 1969 but in 1967, even with sandbags, 8,000 second feet went over the spillway. Although the amount of water back of Success dam this year will be greater than in several years, lake elevation and storage can be controlled by water release. Photos show water along the west shore of the lake, top, and at the spillway as it was early this week.

FLOODWAY HEARING IS CANCELLED

State Reclamation Board hearing concerning the Tule River Designated Floodway which was scheduled for June 14 in the council chambers of Porterville City hall, has been cancelled. All concerned parties will be notified of a new hearing date, according to board officials in Sacramento.

Local-interest ballot issue involving a 15-cent tax for a period of two years to cover cost of construction of swimming pools on the Porterville high and Monache high campuses carried with a 58.11% "yes" vote - 3,886 to 2,801.

Returned to office in the Tuesday election was Fifth District Supervisor Raymond Muller who ran without opposition except for a feeble, last-minute write-in attempt.

In the new 17th Congressional district, Republican Congressman Bob Mathias and Democrat John Kreb will oppose each other in the November general election after both disposed of opposition on their own party ballots.

Running without opposition in the primary, three candidates will be on the general election ballot for 32nd district State

OUR TOWN

BY RUTH LOYD

I'm all mused out this morning. I keep thinking of all the weeds that need pulling, and the windows that should be washed, and other delightful housewifey things that need attention. If ole BILL didn't intimidate me so I could use all kinds of words that would need deleting.

Warning, don't improve your back yard. If you do, keep it very quiet. Don't let the powers that be in the City Hall know about it. If you don't have a sidewalk, they will make you put one in. All the people in our block have lovely lawns that go out to the street. We all take good care of the yards, and it looked so nice. We improved our back yard, and they made us put in a dumb sidewalk. It looks awful. I hope the REISIGS can make the City see the light. Putting a sidewalk around their property, just because they improve their property would look awful. Of course this is just my idea, but I hope the REISIGS win. Sidewalks all over OUT TOWN are cracked, with weeds growing up through, and lumpy because of tree roots, and the people don't improve their back yards so they don't have to have nice sidewalks. It ain't fair. Well, I got that off my chest, as if it did any good. Come to think of it. Why doesn't the City put a sidewalk around the golf course? It would be nice to walk on, and the kids could skate to the pool, and ride their bicycles and all kinds of good things. The only people who like this sidewalk thing is the man who puts in sidewalks. I imagine he thinks it's great.

I snuck around OUR TOWN for quite a few days, trying to stay out of the Highway Patrol's way. I went down the wrong street and got caught. Of course they found something wrong. The air pollution thing wasn't doing its bit, and I had it fixed, and I went to the Patrol's office and they gave me a little sticker, that is good for this year. Now, that I have the sticker, I won't see a trap for ages. I would like to breeze by with my little sticker, and feel superior.

Teachers are getting ready to close their classrooms, and turn their little charges out for the summer. It is always so funny to listen to teachers telling how tired they are, and how they look forward to their summer vacation. They forget that other people don't have a nice long summer vacation. They are lucky if they get a week off all year. Teachers really have it made. Anyway, what is more fun than teaching the younger generation. I opened a can of worms when I made that little statement. Keep those cards and letters coming.

Happiness is a blooming Agapanthus.

PORTERVILLE HAS adopted a U.S. Navy vessel - "USS Blue Ridge," with the following letter from Capt. J.D. Butler, commanding officer, thanking Mayor Joe Faure for honoring the ship: "Dear Mayor Faure: It is both an honor and a pleasure to accept your very kind offer for the City of Porterville to adopt the 'USS Blue Ridge.' The City of Porterville is hereby designated as shallow water homeport for the 'USS Blue Ridge.' The approximately 800 officers and men on board join me in sending greetings and best wishes to their fellow 'hometowners.' The Blue Ridge will remain in the San Diego area until departure in mid-October for a six month tour in the Far East. In event any organizations or groups of Porterville residents plan to be in the San Diego area, I would appreciate receiving advance notice so that we can attempt to arrange a visit to this ship. Let us hope that our new relationship will result in a long-lasting exchange of visits. We enjoyed the opportunity to embark Terry Bergfalk (Fresno Bee representative in Porterville) for a voyage from San Francisco to San Diego and admired the way she did her job in boosting Porterville, Tulare county, and the San Joaquin valley, and the "Jackass Mail" celebration. I am forwarding you, under separate cover, some mementos of the ship which I hope will help strengthen our new relationship." S/J.D. Butler, Captain, U.S. Navy.

GRANTS OF $469,180 SUPPORT COTTON PRODUCTION RESEARCH

BAKERSFIELD — Grants of $469,180 have been authorized by the California Planting Cotton Seed Distributors (CPCSD) in support of cotton production research in the San Joaquin valley by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the University of California.

Bulk of the research funds are raised by assessments on planting cotton seed purchased by San Joaquin Valley growers from their non-profit organization, CPCSD. Tom Cherry, manager, said seed sales this year have totalled 17,200 tons, as compared to 12,000 tons in 1973. This would indicate a cotton acreage increase greater than the 20% previously forecast by CPCSD for the six valley counties.

Research allocations are concentrated in the areas of pest control, verticillium wilt studies, agronomic practices and engineering. Most allocations will permit a continuation of projects already underway by University specialists from the Berkeley, Davis and Riverside campuses.

New projects in the 1974-75 year will support studies of glandless cotton seed, cotton seedling disease, the fusarium wilt problem and the growth cycle of cotton under controlled environment.

The largest figure, $258,000, goes as the growers' contribution to the USDA Cotton Research station at Shafter, in Kern county. All three cottons currently approved for planting in the valley, SJ-1, SJ-2 and SJ-3, were developed through the Shafter breeding program.

Other amounts listed are for the University's Agricultural Extension service, California Cotton Research council, Continuous Cotton Variety

Testing committee and the Eastside field laboratory in Tulare county.

A new allocation is for a cotton field laboratory at Lemoore for use by the University in studies of verticillium wilt control through crop rotation and chemical applications to the soil.

The research program was recommended to the board by members of the CPCSD research committee: Stan Willis, Bakersfield, chairman; John Gilbert, Tipton; Leonard Gomes, Hanford, and Joe Galleano, Madera.

IF YOUR CAR POLLUTES, THIS INSTRUMENT TELLS YOU SO

TECHNICALLY, THE little box with the dials, scales and wires is the Beckman HC/CO Tester, Model 596, an instrument that shows the amounts of carbon monoxide and hydro-carbons emitted through the exhaust pipe of a car. Components are made in the Beckman plant at Porterville, however the instrument is assembled at Beckman's Fullerton plant. The complete unit was brought to Porterville last week in order that Beckman personnel could see the complete product. In photo from left, are Harold Dyar, of The Farm Tribune, whose car failed in an emission test; Dwight Clements and Edward D. Goodnough, production supervisors, and Harold Edge, employee relations manager in the Porterville plant. The tester is being marketed primarily in California metropolitan areas but will soon be put on the national market; it is designed for use by police agencies, garages and emission control checking stations. Through a sensing probe placed in a car's exhaust pipe, the instrument shows not only the amount of carbon-monoxide and hydro-carbon emissions, but also indicates possible causes of excess emissions, such as faulty ignition system, excessively lean carburetion, or valve leakage. Actual allowable maximum emission depends on year car was manufactured, type of smog control unit, and type of exhaust system.

Still Time To Enroll In Summer Classes

PORTERVILLE — Some classes for the Porterville College summer session beginning June 10 are nearing capacity, but there still is space in a number of others, according to Nero Pruitt, director of the session.

Enrollments are being taken daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday, in the college registrar's office.

Pruitt said that enrollments still are needed in some classes to insure their being offered. They include: English 50, Introduction to Composition; Forestry 2, Conservation of natural resources, and History 9, United States History.

Spaces still are available in classes in architectural and engineering drafting, art, auto, reading, health education, college biology, basic mathematics, typing, philosophy, psychology, and political science, Pruitt said.

KLOPPENBURG NAMES ASSISTANTS TO COACH 1974 PIRATE FOOTBALL

PORTERVILLE — A staff of four persons has been selected by Coach Don Kloppenburg to assist him in the development of the 1974 Pirate football team at Porterville College.

Employment of the staff was approved by trustees of the Kern Community College district at their last meeting.

Kloppenburg said that Phil Pendley, a Fresno State College graduate who assisted with last year's team, would remain on the staff and will have special responsibility for the defensive secondary.

Other assistants and special areas of responsibility will be: Mike Munger, offensive and defensive interior line; Steve Paur, offensive receivers; and Lewis Sewell, offensive backfield.

Munger, a graduate of Mt. Whitney High school in Visalia in 1968, played football for two years for College of the Sequoias where he was an all-conference offensive center. He continued to play football at Idaho State college at Pocatello, where he received all-conference honorable mention as a center.
